This is a PDF file of an unedited manuscript that has been accepted for publication. As a service to our customers we are providing this early version of the manuscript. The manuscript will undergo copyediting, typesetting, and review of the resulting proof before it is published in its final form. Please note that during the production process errors may be discovered which could affect the content, and all legal disclaimers that apply to the journal pertain.

Highlights

- Stochastic master equations (SME) with mixed initial state are simulated numerically.
- A trajectory wave function method is proposed for the numerical solution of the SMEs.
- SMEs are represented by systems of non-linear stochastic Schrödinger equations.
- New exponential schemes solve the jump-diffusion stochastic Schrödinger equations.
- Two quantum measurement processes are successfully simulated.
