This is a PDF file of an unedited manuscript that has been accepted for publication. As a service to our customers we are providing this early version of the manuscript. The manuscript will undergo copyediting, typesetting, and review of the resulting proof before it is published in its final form. Please note that during the production process errors may be discovered which could affect the content, and all legal disclaimers that apply to the journal pertain.

Highlights

- We present an iterated tabu search for the partial shop scheduling problem.
- We propose a new constructive heuristic and a neighborhood with a pruning technique.
- We demonstrate that a single algorithm can solve effectively many special cases.
- These special cases include group shop, mixed shop, and open shop scheduling.
- In experiments the algorithm can compete with all state-of-the-art heuristics.
